Robert Skidelsky is emeritus professor of political economy at Warwick University. His three-volume biography of John Maynard Keynes (1983, 1992, 2000) won five prizes and his book on the financial crisis – Keynes: The Return of the Master – was published in September 2010. He was made a member of the House of Lords in 1991 (he sits on the crossbenches) and elected a fellow of the British Academy in 1994.

Recently, he has written and filmed a series of lectures on the History and Philosophy of Economics which will be made available as an open online course in partnership with the Institute for New Economic Thinking.

His most recent publications include Money and Government (2018), What's Wrong with Economics?: A Primer for the Perplexed (2020) and Economic Sanctions: A Weapon out of Control? (2022). He is currently working on a book about automation and the future of work.
