Working for Europe

WHO WE ARE

- Promoting financial integration and financial stability forms the basis of the work of the European Central Bank. Consequently, the ECB plays a crucial role in Europe's economic life and ultimately in the well-being of its citizens.
- We are looking for professionals with different ages, backgrounds and interests who want to explore the fascinating challenges, varied opportunities and people-centred working culture that gives our staff a voice and the chance to make an impact – for Europe.

WORKING FOR EUROPE

Since you will actively foster and support the safety and soundness of Europe's economy, working for the ECB means working for Europe. Together with the central banks of the countries in the euro area, you will contribute to decisions that affect the lives of more than 330 million people.

WHY JOIN THE ECB?

- Exciting jobs in various fields – not only in economics, finance and banking supervision, but also in HR, IT, law and statistics
- Opportunity to develop professional and social networks
- Dynamic and challenging projects
- A working culture which encourages cooperation, mutual support and commitment

DIVERSITY @ THE ECB

The ECB wishes to be a workplace where staff members feel included and respected, and where their individual talents are valued, developed and rewarded. We are looking for open-minded and tolerant Europeans.

Diversity is a key contributor to our success. As a European Union institution, the ECB aspires to be an organisation in which diversity is welcomed and appreciated in all its facets for the richness that it offers. The facets of diversity include – but are not limited to – gender, nationality, religion, sexual orientation, ethnic origin, age, cultural background and disability.

LIFE IN FRANKFURT AM MAIN

Frankfurt am Main, where the ECB is located, is an international city in the heart of Germany. Various cultural attractions, leisure facilities and green areas make the city a pleasant place to live. An extensive road and rail network connects the city to the rest of the country. Its easily accessible airport is Europe's second largest, with 56 million travellers passing through every year.

Frankfurt combines modern with traditional, urban with rural, in a fascinating way.

The open and hospitable atmosphere in Frankfurt stems from its centuries-old role as a trading centre. No matter where you come from, you will always meet people in Frankfurt, and especially at the ECB, who speak your language. You will probably even find a restaurant that serves your favourite food!
